

Take an MGE Energy Break

Your business offers employees a coffee break and a lunch break. But have you considered an MGE Energy Break at work?

MGE will bring an important energy message to your employees, at your facility. We'll provide materials, displays and experts all at no cost to your business.

Your employees will learn about energy or environmental issues in a way that's seriously entertaining!

Flexible programs

You choose the topics and the time for your MGE Energy Break. You can have a brown-bag lunch session, hands-on workshops or energy-theme displays.

We also offer:

- Free home energy tips brochures (some topics in Spanish or Hmong).
- Display materials or speakers for company events such as an open house or employee appreciation day.
- Seasonal articles about energy efficiency for your in-house newsletter.

Benefits

- Employees receive new information to help save energy at home and cut their utility bills.
- Presentations are convenient for you and your employees.
- You'll be demonstrating your company's commitment to helping employees save money and improve the environment.

Popular requests

Presentations are tailored to your employees' interests. Here are some ideas:

- Light Up Your Life - The latest in home lighting efficiency, product buying tips and new technologies to help cut energy bills.
- Power Lunch - Spend lunchtime with MGE's energy efficiency experts. They'll answer your questions and offer advice on which energy conservation measures really pay off.
- Living the Green Life - Learn about local renewable energy options, sources for green building materials, Green Built® rated homes and products.
- Free Up Five - Learn how to free up at least five dollars on your home energy costs with inexpensive and easy energy investments.
- Home Energy Workshop - A "whole house" approach to saving energy. Covers energy-efficient appliances, lighting, building materials and the big three: heating, cooling and hot-water systems. Advice on do-it-yourself energy improvements and when to call in a professional.
- For more presentation topics, see our "Speakers Bureau" information on our Web site at www.mge.com.
